

CORPORATE FLIGHT DEPARTMENT

SUMMER INTERNSHIP (JUNE 2 – 7, 2013)

Sponsored by: UTFlight, UTC's Corporate Flight Department
Celebrating 80+ Years of Continuous Operation

Have you ever considered a career in Corporate Aviation? Here is your chance to spend a week with the people at UTFlight, the continuously operated flight department for United Technologies Corporation since 1928. Room, board and transportation to Hartford, Connecticut will be paid for by UTFlight.

Immerse yourself in the culture and teamwork of UTFlight as you witness the inner workings of our flight department in several different functional areas including finance, dispatch, maintenance, and flight operations. Spend quality time networking with, interviewing, and job shadowing key personnel within the different departments. Gain additional perspective and insight as you meet with executives and ride along on a trip (conditions permitting). What better way to appreciate the results of your behind-the-scenes activity in which you have participated all week, then to see our customer point of view about the importance of corporate aviation in their role managing and operating a large global company.

Be prepared to learn. You will get what you put into this experience. As you interact closely with your counterpart, an intern selected from another UAA member/AABI accredited school, you will build an effective, synergistic team, enabling you to each gain more from the experience than you would have individually. Daily meetings with the internship coordinator, keeping a journal of your experiences, and making a presentation at the completion of the week to department personnel are required. Come join us for this excellent corporate aviation opportunity!
